Headlines

An amazing day of charitable activities for Red Nose Day has capped another busy, exciting and educational week. I often write about the amazing antics of our children, but today I would like to congratulate all of the parents who, in the last 2 weeks alone, have collectively managed costumes for Tudor Day and RND17, logistics for Eisteddfod rehearsals and performances, training sessions for Tag Rugby festivals, support of House Cross-Country and Hockey events, delivery of science experiments and visits to the 1st Annual Science Fair. Art days and farm visits have been enjoyed too and many of our homes and cars are filled with songs from Joseph, as rehearsals intensify.

Congratulations to all.

Have a great weekend.

Supervising children before and after school at ECJS

Please could we remind parents and guardians to keep a close eye on their children at all times before and after the school day. If you are picking up children from both sites, please ensure that you take your younger children with you when picking up children from Beechwood. Do not leave children unsupervised on the Acorn climbing frame or musical area.

Similarly, the climbing facilities on the Beechwood field should also be supervised.

Thank you

JA

Red Nose Day Friday

In School Council we began by deciding what we would do for Red Nose Day, we had some brilliant ideas but in the end we decided on a lucky dip and a quiz in year groups. In our School council meetings we started writing up quiz questions to type up in the following two meetings. We had come up with over one hundred good questions and a good variety of topics.

On Thursday the twenty third of March in the second to last lesson of the day some of the council members gathered in Mrs Pollard's classroom to write up a few more questions and create the lucky dip. The lucky dip was made with a white bin sack filled with shredded paper and red noses.

On the twenty fourth we saw lots of red outfits from hair dye to red T-shirts. Then we started the day with the lucky dip. People were very excited to see what they got, there was a huge variety of noses everything from 'Sneezecakes' to 'Snootankhamun' (but no ultra-rare nose.) In the afternoon we did the quiz, the questions were very good!

People enjoyed testing their knowledge in a variety of different topics including: French, sports, gaming etc. Overall the day went successfully and we all had a blast!

Daniel Radford, School Councillor.
