

Sing, choirs of young angels....

Guernsey Press 12 March 2015

by Damian Wrigley

dwrigley@guernseypress.com

JUNIOR school choirs went head-to-head at the Eisteddfod on Sunday afternoon.

Melrose junior choir sang The Dormouse's Carol and Ching-a-Ring Chaw, and up against them were Beechwood Friday Choir, regaling the crowd with Praise God, From Whom All Blessings Flow and Peace on Earth mixed with Silent Night.

Le Mare De Carteret's junior choir were forced to withdraw due to illness, but that did not dent people's enthusiasm.

Beechwood's Joesph Tom, 11, said seeing so many talented people in the same room was great.

'It is really good fun, I am really enjoying it. It is good to compete with other choirs, sometimes I am nervous before a performance, but then when we start it is fine.'

Head of music at the school, Richard Sutton said the event should be seen as showcasing Guernsey talent, and not through a competitive lens.

'This should be more of a celebration of school music. I think we did okay out there, we have been practising for a while.'

'Sometimes I am nervous before a performance, but then when we start it is fine'

Joseph Tom, 11, Beechwood choir

Above: Beechwood Friday Choir.
(Pictures by Adrian Miller, 7432424)

Melrose Junior School Choir.
(7432422)