Twitch is a livestreaming service which tends to focus on gaming. Users can publicly broadcast their gameplay and commentary online for other users to watch. It's a community-driven platform where viewers can support their favourite streamers' channels through PayPal donations, "Bits" and more. Each streamer or group creates their own community for fans to interact with each other. Twitch has more than 15 million daily active users and includes non-gaming topics such as music, cooking, and art. Anyone can create a channel to livestream or watch videos.

In the guide, you'll find tips on a number of potential risks such as inappropriate content, private chat rooms and strangers.

- ECO tip of the week -

In college we have nearing 1000 computers (with every pupil/member of staff having a laptop – and some may even have more than one – additional ones at home for gaming/design etc) and then the various computer rooms – this adds up to a lot of computer power that can potentially be left on.

The energy Saving trust tries to work how much it costs per year to leave items on standby all the time. The figures for laptops and computers come in at just under £12 per year – which may not sound a lot – but that could still be £12000 saved if all the college computers/laptops were used efficiently.

Screen savers don't save energy- only being in sleep mode or turned off can save energy.
